Dear friend,

I am an accomplished Java developer with over a decade of experience, recognized among the top 2% of Java developers globally on StackOverflow. My passion for programming is immense.

My most recent project on GitHub is an elegant HTTP server built from scratch, using Java virtual threads. My most recent professional project was leading a new, global E-commerce platform, using Spring Boot and an ecosystem of modern technologies.

I am open to CDI employment anywhere in France, and I am available to start immediately. I do not require Visa sponsorship, nor relocation assistance.

My French language skills are at a beginner's level, but I am progressing fast. My past peers, both in France and abroad, have been happy to converse and collaborate using English, which has contributed to enthusiasm for our craftsmanship and software quality.

Sincerely,

Martin A.
